Well I haven't read all of BB's books but I have read a few of them and this one had to be one of my personal favorites. I usually can guess pretty early on "who did it" but I loved the fact that not only was I unable to quickly guess the killer but I was wrong in my assumption. That for me was the greatest thing ever! I will say that even when I can guess the killer quickly, I usually have several moments when I change my mind while reading one of her books. But usually I am right!
