Excellent read for increasing your Energy and Engagement, Home or Work

By Chris Means

It was a fascinating read, with lots of data to show why we are not always engaged or at our highest level of performance, as employees primarily, but also as family members and members of society. Unbelievable (or not) that 1 in 3 people in America never leave the building once they arrive at work. They give you case studies as well as concrete things you can do to live your best life.

Very worthwhile read.
